Dear Warren

The impact your visit had on our organisation has been profound. Four weeks later my team are still discussing what you taught us and continue to reflect on how your attitude to life, obstacles and challenges can benefit them in their own lives, both professional and personal.

The relevance, clarity and poignancy of your presentation and subsequent conversations with our people has helped us refocus on the tasks we have to complete and brought the team closer together.

All organisations, small or large, charitable or commercial, growing or restructuring will benefit from what you have to say, and importantly how you say and demonstrate so tangibly what you have learnt in life.

We are all proud to have met you and have benefited from your experiences. We cannot recommend highly enough to any other organisation the benefits of engaging you to speak with them.

Kind regards.

Yours sincerely
